FOREWORD

"Remember when" . . . is heard all around as the pages of the 1956-57 Rampage are opened, and you look back through this year.

Beginning at the first of the year, classes were moved to a new campus — a few at a time. If you were one of the lucky ones, every other class was held on a different campus. So you walked about two and one-half blocks between each session over what was fondly named the Burma Road. It wound like a snake between piles of dirt, stacks of lumber, and around parked dump trucks and half-finished buildings.

Finally, you were completely settled in a new school on a new campus, and you began to take stock of what you have here. You decided that for a school it's a pretty good thing. But if you talked to one of the foreign exchange students enrolled, you discovered that there are really a great many things of which to be proud, things not to be taken for granted.

Materially speaking, you are proud of the over-all new campus, with its improved facilities both scholastically and athletically. As the year progressed you looked around and became increasingly aware of many things. Thumbing through the pages of Guidance and Education, you notice the addition of many aids to learning, increased library space, adequate science labs, and ample space for all forms of administration.

Looking at Activities, you note that there is a varied and interesting program, including assemblies, pep rallies, club excursions, and dances.

As you turn to Athletics, you find that the addition of a swimming pool on our new campus opens up many more possibilities for both girls' and boys' sports.

So in turning the pages of your Rampage, you will look again on familiar faces and some scenes that have already been replaced in your memories by a more finished look, for since the annual has gone to press, many more changes have altered the face of the new Temple City High School campus.

Now you may really look with pride on a school that you may truly call "your own."

GUIDANCE AND EDUCATION

Under the leadership of a fine administration and faculty Temple City High School students made the transition from an old, overcrowded campus to a new and spacious one. It was the cooperation between faculty and students that made this move so easily accomplished.

Many took advantage of the open student cabinet meetings. These meetings afforded them the opportunity to see our student government in action. Through the efforts of our student cabinet many new ideas and innovations were introduced at Temple City High School.

The primary part of any school is its classes. For the first time, this year, we welcomed a brand new freshman class. Early in the fall the various class leaders were elected, and under these leaders all classes carried out a very active year.

Dear Penny:
It sure has been fun this year.

PRINCIPAL

Good luck, Penny
A. H. North

ARTHUR H. NORTH

One "giant step" was taken by Mr. North when he came to Temple City as principal of the high school in July, 1954.

From teaching English and social studies, to coaching football and baseball, to vice-principal, was the path he followed from 1938 to 1954 at Burroughs High School in Burbank.

Teaching duties were interrupted by three years of duty as signal officer aboard a cruiser in the Pacific, during World War II.

Coming from Illinois where he spent the first 12 years of his life, our principal graduated from Los Angeles Polytechnic High School, majoring in mechanical engineering. With two years at Santa Monica Junior College and three at Whittier College he was granted his BA, MA, and teaching credential. Subsequent work at UCLA and USC earned him an administrative credential.

Mr. North participated in all major sports throughout his collegiate career and played rugby on a national championship team in his spare time.

VICE - PRINCIPALS

Miss Shephard was born in Santa Monica, California, but moved with her family at an early age to Fresno, California, where she attended elementary and high school. She obtained her bachelor's degree in health, physical education, and recreation from Fresno State College, after which she taught in various schools in the San Joaquin Valley, until she enlisted in the Navy in 1943. She served as a lieutenant in the Officer's Training School for Women at Smith and Mt. Holyoke Colleges on the East Coast and for two years as welfare and recreation officer at San Pedro.

Upon being returned to inactive duty, she returned to teaching and counseling until she was recalled to active duty in the Korean crisis. During this tour of duty she served as officer-in-charge of the Basic Division at the U.S. Navy Correspondence Course Center in Brooklyn, New York.

Upon being returned to civilian life again, Miss Shephard entered the Graduate School at the University of Southern California where she obtained her administrative credential and master's degree, after which she became a member of the administrative staff at Temple City High School.

Miss Laura Shephard
Girls' Vice-Principal

George Yertson
Boys' Vice-Principal

George Yertson was born in Hoboken, New Jersey. Before completing elementary school, he made several trips to Norway.

His freshman year at New York University was interrupted by World War II. He served his country as a Marine Corps pilot. While stationed in California, he met his future spouse, whom he married at the conclusion of the war.

At this time he returned to New Jersey, completed his BA, and earned his master's degree in science at Teachers College.

While teaching science and math in New Jersey, he undertook graduate work in counseling at Rutgers University.

In 1952 Mr. Yertson moved to California with a new addition to the family. He spent his days teaching mathematics and science in Pomona, his evenings serving as a counselor at County Juvenile Forestry Camp. Soon he welcomed the arrival of a fourth Yertson.

After completing administrative studies at Claremont Graduate School, George Yertson came to Temple City High School in 1954. Here he served as teacher of science, mathematics, and counselor, until being appointed as boys' vice-principal.

Delmar Heyne, Bill Smith, and Bob McAlister.

The duties of the counselors make up a large section of our administration. They are kept busy all year long, starting with programming all students. This takes up considerable time because each student receives an individual interview.

Personal conferences are held with students to enable them to make better adjustments in personal, social, and educational problems.

COUNSELORS

Through the counselors, information concerning college applications, scholarships, subject catalogs, and vocations is made available to the students.

In their spare time the counselors gave a series of achievement tests, to determine the amount of learning each student has achieved in this past year.

Making available information concerning scholarships, college courses, and tuition costs to students is part of Counselor Delmar Heyne's job. Shown with him are Carmen Brewer, Jean McGuigan, and Carolyn Cameron.

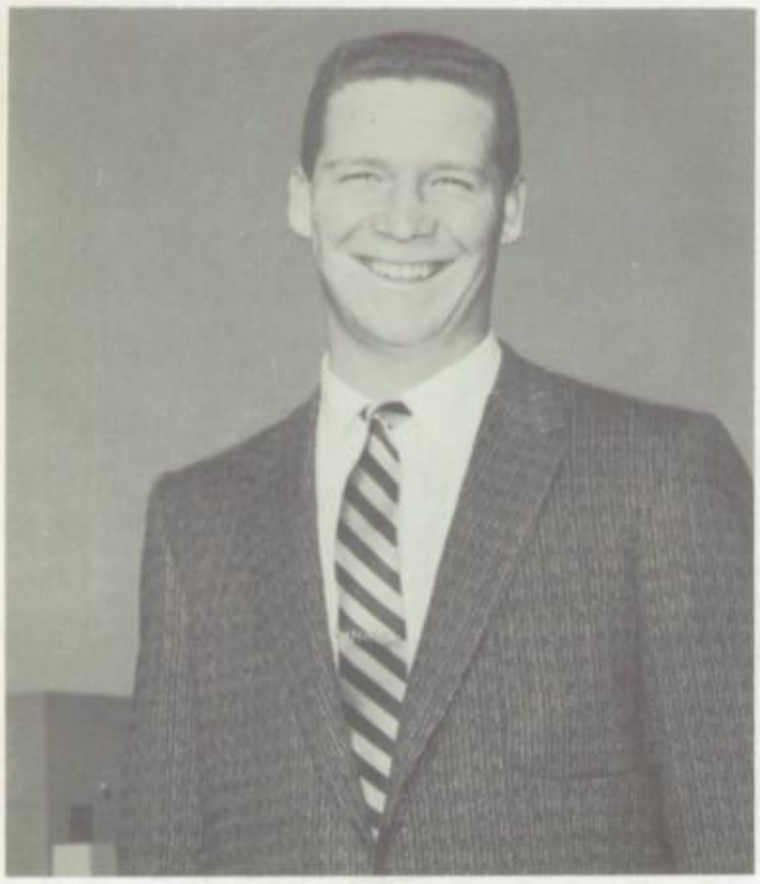
". . . and that ends today's assembly. You are now excused to your fourth period class."

ASB PREXY

It has been an honor and a privilege to serve in the capacity of student body president this past year. Through this experience I have gained enough memories and acquaintances to last a lifetime. I should like to thank you, the student body, for making this possible. I should also like to thank my cabinet and our fine faculty for all the help they have given me. In view of all the obstacles we have had to hurdle, I feel we have had a very successful year. I hope each of you learned a little more about democracy and government this year; I know I did. It is my wish that you cooperate with next year's officers as you have this year and once again make Temple City High School the best-scholastically, athletically, and socially.

Ronald Surdam

PRESIDENT'S CABINET



Terry Reinhold
Vice-President

The Student Cabinet (Executive Council) along with the student body were very fortunate this year in having a new high school they could call their very own. With the new high school came many new problems and pleasures. The cabinet, with the help of the student body, overcame these problems and were rewarded by having a high school with an enviable record. Many new ideals were established by the student body through the cabinet this year.

This year the cabinet felt the need for more commissioners. We had our first alumni; we had many new clubs; and a need for more publicity. In order to take care of these things properly, the cabinet inaugurated the offices of commissioner of clubs, commissioner of alumni, and commissioner of publicity.

Once again Temple City High School took part in the Rio Hondo League Forum. By doing so the cabinet were able to gain valuable experience in student government. As the spring months rolled around, it was Temple City High School's cabinet who had the honor to choose the band for the All-League Dance.

The cabinet this year have tried very hard to give each student a voice in the way he or she would like to see the student government run. After all, it is necessary for everyone to take part in student body government if we are to have a great school. With this in mind, the cabinet wish next year's student body and its officers luck and prosperity in the ensuing year.

GIRLS'

All the girls at Temple City High School belong to Girls' League.

The purpose of Girls' League is to plan and carry out various activities for not only girls but for the whole school as well.

Under the enthusiastic leadership of Donna Jones, president, the Girls' League planned and carried out a very active year.

Scattered among bake sales, assemblies, mother-daughter teas, and campus cookie sales were two very important events.

On February 16, cupids and hearts set the stage for the Sweethearts' Ball, the annual Valentine's Dance. This dance, with the exception of the Junior-Senior Prom, is the only formal dance at Temple City High School.

At the first sign of warm weather, the Girls' League planned Bermuda-Slave Day. Little red hearts costing 5 cents apiece told everyone that a girl was a boy's particular slave for that hour. For 25 cents a boy could have that same girl as his slave for the whole day. Bermuda shorts and socks were the order of dress for the day.

The Girls' League conducted a very successful year with the installation of new officers on May 29.

Committee chairmen: Back row: S. McDonald, social entertainment. R. Ipsen, publicity co-chairman; A. Utterson, Big-Sister-Little Sister Day. Front row: V. Jimenez, publicity co-chairman; P. Rothlisberger, election and installation; B. Beaudet, refreshments.

To become acquainted with the freshmen girls was the theme of the Big Sister-Little Sister Tea on February 4. Assisting the freshmen in finding a "big sister" is Sandy Collins.

This is the second year that Boys League has been in operation at Temple City. Boys League provided many activities and events for the entire student body this year.

The first activity was an all-boys' assembly on the fields of science and engineering, given by Caltech. Then came the pentathlon, track events in which most every boy in the school participated. The annual student-faculty basketball game was the biggest event this year, with the added attraction of the varsity vs. alumni.

The March Assembly put on by General Motors was considered a very big success.

Another annual affair was the Valentine Dance co-sponsored with Girls League. Altogether this has been a very full and fine year for Boys League at Temple High.

Surprise guest at the student-faculty basketball game, January 25, was "Rollo," the ape. As a confusion maker, he rated tops; as a basketball player, he should stick to the sidelines.

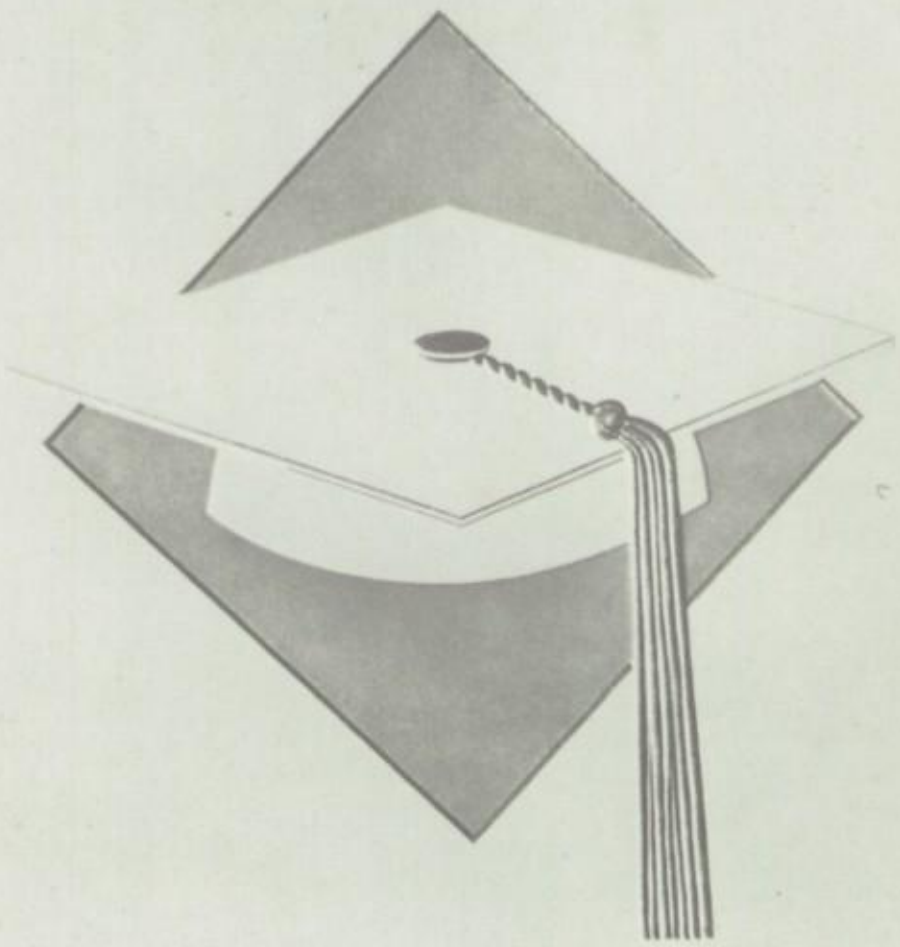
Demonstrating radio and TV waves, at a Boys' League assembly on March 14 titled "Previews to Progress," is Mr. Blake from General Motors.



Senior Memories

SENIORS '57

After playing the role of underclassmen for five years, the Class of 1957 finally made the top. The thought of graduating prevailed throughout the year. This year's seniors had waited so long to see a cap and gown that they chose theirs and their other necessities of graduation very carefully.

The senior class representatives, elected in their individual senior problems classes early in the year, worked hard on everything they undertook. In the class meetings, everything concerning the senior class was discussed thoroughly before any decisions were reached.

The annual Junior-Senior Review variety show and the Senior Party were planned to be bigger and better than ever before. With everyone's renewed interest in politics this past year, the senior class organized a "Get Out the Vote" campaign. The night before the presidential election, seniors were seen throughout Temple City urging people to vote.

We should like to thank our advisers, Mr. Heyne and Mr. Smith, for the great amount of help they have given us throughout the past year.

We, the class of '58, having finally earned our title of "senior," look forward with a great deal of pleasure and no little regret to our final year at Temple City. We look forward with pleasure because it means the Junior-Senior Review, Junior-Senior Prom, Senior Privilege Week, Senior Party, football games, dances, and many other gay times. We look forward with regret because all this means the drawing to a close of our happy high school days, days which have been filled with the activities and achievements of our class members.

The highlight of the junior class activities for the past year was the Junior-Senior Prom which took place at the Altadena Country Club ballroom on the evening of June 7. This was paid for mainly by the bids and the junior class activities for the past year, which included the annual Frosh-Soph Brawl, Junior-Senior Review, and the newly added "A Night in Dogpatch." These activities were planned at the bi-monthly meetings of the officers and representatives, the presidents of the history and civics classes. None of this would have been possible without the untiring advice and assistance of our advisers, Mr. Blomgren and Mrs. Peterson.

SOPHOMORES '59

This was a happy year for the sophomore class, as we could now discard the title of "lowly freshmen." The sophomore class participated in the school's mock election by registering the entire student body. This activity was handled in a very efficient manner and was a tribute to the group of volunteers who worked so hard for its success.

The rest of the agenda of the year included a dance scheduled for May 24, the viewing of the "Ten Commandments" by the entire sophomore class, and a beach party in June.

The class of '59 was well represented in athletics, as the boys participated in all sports and did an outstanding job. This was a good omen for the future varsity teams which will represent Temple City High School.

Finally, the class would like to thank our advisers, Mr. Kynell and Mr. Johnson, for their time and much needed assistance in all our activities.

FROSH '60

The freshman class of 1956-57 was Temple City High School's first freshman class. The Senior Cabinet members extended a warm welcome to the new students at the Freshman Assembly.

The freshman class sponsored an all-school dance on November 17, at which our football queen was honored. The theme was "Autumn's Majesty," and the "Tempos" were featured.

The freshman class officers, consisting of Jim Morton, president; Joyce Roberts, vice-president; and Jeanine Funk, secretary, were elected by vote of the entire class, and the nine council representatives were elected individually by their core classes. Council meetings held in the morning before school were conducted under the direction of Mrs. Marian Evans. The freshman class showed its fine spirit and enthusiasm by winning first place in the annual P.T.A. membership drive. All in all the new freshmen were very proud of being a part of Temple City High School.

PARTICIPATION

Dancing feet and whirling skirts bring to mind one of the phases of participation — dances. Highlighting them this year were the Valentine's Dance and the Christmas Dance. Also featured was "Autumn's Majesty," which honored the football queen.

Unusual activities, such as the construction of a "hot dog cooker," and numerous service projects characterized the clubs on campus this past year. While busy doing the unusual, the members did not forget service for those less fortunate than themselves. Tray favors for hospitals, Thanksgiving baskets, and rummage sales to collect clothes for needy families — these were among the many fine plans that were carried out.

Organizations of which we may all be proud are the music groups at Temple City High School. Through their combined efforts many entertaining assemblies and programs, including the Spring Festival, were presented for us.

The year 1956-57 will be remembered not only for our fine spirit but also for our excellent participation as well.

SPANISH CLUB

The beginning of the Spanish Club's list of activities was a trip to Padua Hills to see "Las Posadas," a Christmas play in Spanish. It is the story of Mary and Joseph going from house to house seeking lodging. Other activities included a tour through the San Gabriel Mission. The group attended two lectures, one on Spain, and another on Mexico, where they showed movies of the country.
In order to help reenact the humble life of the Mexican people, the club made tacos, tamales, and beans. All managed to get them down despite their being unaccustomed to the Mexican seasoning.

SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY

Temple City High School's C.S.F. chapter was organized and chartered in 1955. The purpose of the organization is to stimulate good scholarship and school service in students. Approximately eight and one-half per cent of the student body are members. These include many of TCHS' outstanding citizens. Their main function is service for the school. Bill Smith and Blaze Bonazza are the faculty advisers of the chapter at Temple City.

Members have many wonderful opportunities for scholarships in innumerable colleges and universities.

A number of foreign students are newly enrolled in Temple City High School. These students held an interesting panel discussion at one of the C.S.F. meetings. They gave a general description of the schools, homes, towns, etc., in their countries.

"Y" COLLEGIATES

The Collegiates started off their round of activities with a barrel of fun at the Pasadena Winter Gardens. On October 2, they attended a Halloween party at Lela Hubbell's house, after preparing tray favors for the Sister Kenny Hospital.
A surprise breakfast with the Sophisticates on December 1 had the group hopping out of bed early in the morning.
Among the other activities that were held were a roller skating party, a sweater raffle, and a lecture on juvenile delinquency. In addition they prepared food for a needy family on Thanksgiving.

SOPHISTICATES

As a service club of the YWCA, the Sophisticates have fulfilled many goals. Instead of each girl's working separately, the whole club worked as a team on both service projects and activities.

Sophisticates had many good times together, including potluck dinners and swimming parties, Christmas parties, and a come-as-you-are breakfast. But among the good times were moments of fellowship, such as the World Fellowship service held at the First Congregational Church in Pasadena. This was a very inspirational service for officers and members of all the Y-Teen clubs in this area.

Three of the girls attended the leadership conference at Asilomar during the summer. Girls of high-school age from California, Arizona, Nevada, and Hawaii attended. They benefited greatly from this experience and brought back many new ideas to the club.

The Inter-Club Council representative, Sue Skillern, along with the president, attended many I.C.C. meetings at the Y with girls from Y-Teen clubs in the surrounding area.

The biggest project of the year was selling Sylvania light bulbs.

CAMPUS DEBS

Officers Back row: B. Stoll, Vice-President; C. Ferraro, President; M. Seixas, Chaplain. Front row: K. Anderson, Secretary; V. Hoff, I.C.C. Representative; M. O'Toole, Treasurer.

This was an action-packed year for Temple's Campus Debs. On December 9 they presented a fashion show for all the Y-Teens and their mothers. The clothes were from the Band Box, and Nancy Elgar acted as narrator. It was held in the Longden Auditorium at 2 p.m.

Next on the agenda was a panel of four boys from Arcadia, who discussed the problems of dating, with an open discussion afterward. A bake sale was held also in Temple City. They made more than $12 and used the money for a Christmas project.

Back row: K. Hayes, P. Wanamaker, G. Littler, K. Hornback, B. Becker, M. Marks, J. Lang, H. Irvine, B. Nestie, M. Magie, T. Covello, M. O'Toole, M. Seixas, D. Singelyn. Third row: M. Reukema, S. TEENS

CAPRIS

This Y-Teen group carried with it the ever-present enthusiasm and spirit that were typical of this year's freshman class.

Under the fine leadership of Miss Margee Mohr, faculty adviser; Rosemary Ipsen, student adviser; and Rosie Williams, president, the ninth grade Y-Teens planned and carried out a very active year.

One of the highlights of the year was the formal installation of officers in the Little Theater.

On December 19, they brought the Christmas spirit to a portion of Temple City in the form of a caroling party.

Early in the spring, sleepy Y-Teens were dragged out of their nice warm beds for a "come-as-you-are" breakfast.

All these events combined to make an active and interesting year.

CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club, although small, had a very important part in the life of our school. They took and processed all the pictures for our school newspaper, in which photography is so important. In the school darkroom, among dingy lights and chemicals, their members worked many long hours after school to meet the deadlines.

After overcoming the problems involved in their work, we feel proud of our Camera Club for the fine work they have contributed to the paper. The officers are: Jim Spellman, president; and Harley Christ, vice-president. Members are Tom Hawkins and Karl Taylor.

F. T. A.

This year the future teachers were assigned to teachers in their subject field choices. They also received a good look at their future careers when they observed teachers in the elementary schools of our district. An all-day conference for potential teachers culminated most of the year's activities.

SKI CLUB

The Ski Club started off its fast-flying events with a demonstration on skiing principles. In January the group went to Green Valley to go skiing. Everyone was able to go because skis were provided for those who did not own them.

Skiing, hiking, water sports, and water skiing were some of the many activities engaged in by the club. Under Tom Rinaman as president, the club had a full school year of thrilling activities.

HAM CLUB

The chief aims of the Radio and Hams Club were to develop an interest in the field of electronics and to aid students who were interested in acquiring their amateur radio licenses.

Under the direction of Marty Pelka and Harold Onderdonk, they were kept busy establishing a station here at Temple City, learning code, plus buying and using new equipment.

A good time was had by all on a field trip to Radio Station KMPC, where they were taken on a guided tour.

First-hand experiences such as these helped to make this a top-notch Ham Club.

KEY CLUB

One of the most active service clubs here at Temple City High School is the Key Club. The Key Club is a service organization made up of boys from each class, with no age restrictions.

The Key Club was called on by the community to do service work, such as collecting money for the March of Dimes, working for the community Christmas project, and ushering at football games.

During the Camellia Festival they were seen planting camellias, directing the lineup of floats, and various other jobs.

Socially speaking, the boys had breakfast meetings at the Clock Broiler. They had dinner at an exclusive restaurant in Hollywood. A snow trip also highlighted their social events.

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and advised by Mr. Piper, the Key Club has had an outstanding year.

ENGINEERS' CLUB

The Engineers' Club was founded in order to further and foster an interest in the fields of science and engineering. Under the supervision of Mr. Thaller and Mr. Onderdonk, various people worked on projects in the field of engineering.

On December 1, 1956, they attended a program at California Institute of Technology, planned for prospective students of the school. Among the many subjects discussed were "Are Metals Weak or Strong?", "Problems of High Speed Flight," and "The Water Supply Problem in Southern California." They also met the president of Caltech, Dr. Lee Du Bridge.

An example of the Engineers' Club ingenuity was Jim Morton's hot dog cooker. It is made of three boards in a "u" shape with nails on two sides. It works on standard house current. Hot dogs are then placed on the nails, and the wires are hooked on. After the current is turned on the hot dogs cook in about two and one-half minutes.

ART CLUB

Those who liked to paint and sketch had a fine time in the Art Club, under the direction of Mrs. Shirlee Cleveland.

Many excursions were made to provide new creative ideas. Among these excursions were a guided tour through Forest Lawn on December 1, a trip to the zoo to sketch live animals, and visits to Exposition Park and Huntington Art Gallery. The trip to San Pedro Wharf to paint seascapes was a definite challenge to these beginning artists.

DANCE

Toes pointed, heads up, the spot goes on, and the big Dance Concert begins — the biggest event of the year in Dance Club!

On March 29-30 the club's production of "Here Comes the Showboat," Temple High's answer to N'Orleans and 'Ole Miss, hit the boards.

Other activities of club members were field trips to ballets, other school concerts, and this year, for the

Did the Dance Club do anything else? Yes, club members had fun, but they found that the day in and day out grind of a dancer is plain hard work. And, frankly, they admit they wouldn't have made it without Miss Martha Hall.

Bob Callander
Drama Adviser

A combination of various talents made up the Stage Dwellers of Temple City High, under the direction of Robert Callander. Each member was allowed to participate in different activities offered in his field, such as: stage design, music, makeup, lighting, costuming, dance, choral speaking, and other phases. Everyone had an opportunity to compete for the lead roles.

The officers were: President, Ronnie Bell; Secretary, Karen Kirste, and Treasurer, Ann Zaccaro.

The date of their first debut was November 5-7, when they presented the first of a series of three one-act plays.

Throughout the year their objectives of poise, cooperation, leadership, and participation were fulfilled.

PRESENT

Don't tell anyone, but this was really high-class drama — much as Carole Perotti (who played the secretary) seems to be turning her back on the whole thing. The thoughtful young daughter, Alison Heed, tries to comfort her ailing mother, Sharon Thomas, in this tragic little item the Stage Dwellers presented in the fall series.

Deanna Matheny tries to look like somebody's mother and a gal's dormitory housekeeper at the same time, while Linda Hughes, a frustrated young student, seeks her help in a tender little comedy the Stage Dwellers produced last fall.

In a "Who-Done-It" of hilarious proportions, our hero, Carl Conger, helps policewoman, Loraine Morris, keep that psychotic monster, Ronnie Bell, from trying to kill his childhood sweetheart, Harlie Judy. This was Comedy No. 2 of the fall series presented by the Stage Dwellers.

BUSINESS CLUB

If you had started out quite early on the morning of October 11, 1956, feeling rather hungry, and walked into the Clock Broiler, you would have been among several others, in the same boat, all trying to get waited on, served, and make it back to school in order not to get that additional tardy. It was on that day that the Business Club had its first breakfast meeting of the year. Since then, there have been several other breakfast meetings, including an outdoor breakfast held at the Temple City Park in March of 1957.

Tray favors for hospitals was a special project of the club held during December. They had a float for the Camellia Parade in February, sponsored a Career Day for the entire school, and gave an Awards Banquet for the Business Department. They also went on an excursion to a business office, as the last project of the year.

Sponsoring the Business Club are: Mrs. Edith Conklin, Mrs. Emily Fuhs, Mr. David Horsley, and Mr. Charles Lievsay.

Back row: Mr. Horsley, Mrs. Fuhs, B. Johnson, M. Christopher, C. Sherrard, B. Fessler, B. McCrory, H. Velenosi, J. Hill, J. Beckner, M. Brown, K. Bonney, S. Grueter, Mr. Lievsay. Middle row: M. Kammer, H. Judy, C. Grueter, J. Blakely, L. Mentze, R. Hanson.

TRACK CLUB

The motive impelling the forming of Temple City's new Track Club this year was the request of numerous track members.

Mr. Feary, being as active as he is in track, was unanimously elected its adviser.

Since many of the boys were interested in teaching, primarily track, the club gave them the opportunity to preview the profession by sponsoring and directing such activities as the Junior Track Meet. At this event the track teams of junior high schools united for competition. The entire function was under the leadership of the track members.

Because of the intense interest the boys displayed in their club, track has been popular at Temple, and our team has increased in volume. On their planned list of activities was the presentation of Ducky Drake, coach at UCLA, to the student body in conjunction with the Boys League. His topic was the Olympic games of 1957, which were held in Melbourne, Australia. One of the projects undertaken by a few members was the track record board, which is now proudly displayed in our gym. The workmen on it were Tom Parrington, Orval Hart, and Carl Conger.

Although this was the first year for our Track Club, it has been most successful at Temple.

YEARBOOK

Although it seems we were more near hysteria than sanity, pictures were placed in their right places, dummies were drawn, schedules were made up, and innumerable people were contacted. Put all of these things together, and you have the 1956-57 Rampage.

It wasn't really as bad as it sounds, at least, not all of the time . . .

Through the efficient organization of our new adviser, Mrs. Ackerman, the staff more than once was pulled back down to earth.

But in between selling ads and later billing advertisers, the staff's over-all sense of humor usually provided a joke or two at the crucial moment.

Under the leadership of Diana Breneiser, editor, the staff more than once learned the meaning of "burning the midnight oil."

NEWSPAPER

Under the leadership of Janet Aeby, editor-in-chief, the Rampage editors and staff published the monthly paper for the enjoyment of the student body of Temple City High School.

The goal of the editors was a bi-monthly publication of the Rampage.

As its purpose the staff maintained a policy of accurate and informative news, interesting feature stories, an up-to-date account of school activities, and all the latest sports news. Since it was impossible for the annual to be a complete record of events, the newspaper had to record a more detailed history. The editors and staff attempted to do this during the past year.

Ben Godfrey
Band Conductor

T. C. RAMS' BAND

The Temple City student body, as a relatively new high school group, has had its share of successes and disappointments, but of particular satisfaction to the school has been the fact that it has not been lacking for a good band. This is demonstrated by our band's very busy schedule not only at home, where it supported our team with the fighting songs of the green and gold, but also in other areas.

On November 24, the band participated in the "All-Western Band Review" in Long Beach. Here, competing against the best high schools throughout the state, it received a rating 94.31 in actual competition. Because of a technical penalty contracted before competition, the rating was dropped by three points to 91.31. This netted us fifth place for our division; the former rating would have put us in first place.

The band did well for itself at "Burbank on Parade" on September 22, chalking up first place in its division.

On December 6, the band put on another splendid performance at the Disneyland Music Festival in Anaheim, in conjunction with the drill team, majorettes, and the Pep Commission.

Other activities the TCHS Band participated in were: the "West Arcadia Parade," where we competed against the large high schools in Southern California; in "Temple City Day," on September 22, at the Pomona Fair; at the UCLA-Washington football game, on October 13, as part of a mass band half-time stunt; at San Marino, with other talent from Temple City High School, in the San Marino exchange assembly program on February 1; and many others.

Drum major: Gary Heaton

BAND SOLOISTS

Gary Heaton was given the honor of drum major by Mr. Godfrey and the band. Last summer before school started, he attended Pepperdine College, where he learned the basic fundamentals of leading a band. After finishing this course he was well qualified to lead our band in the many different parades, games, and band reviews.

It was a real honor when Gary took fifth place in competition with 60 other contestants in the All-Western Band Review. As military drum major, Gary was judged on his marching ability, stance, personality, control over the band, and knowledge of signals.

We are very proud to have had him as our drum major for the Temple City High School Band. He has performed creditably at Burbank on Parade, Disneyland, and numerous other parades.

A new addition to our band this year was a baton soloist. Harlie Judy was officially appointed to the post.

Her position was at the head of the band doing her fancy twirls and high steps. Harlie is well qualified for this position as her many trophies show. A few of her top honors were the title of "Miss Majorette of California," the San Gabriel Valley Championship trophy, first place in the All-Western Band Review, and many more.

Majorettes: Ilene Buckeridge, Sharon Johnson, Karen Anderson, Marilyn Lewis, Beverly Adams.

A salute to a real swell gal. Best of luck. Love, Harlie Judy 1957

MAJORETTES

Solo majorette: Harlie Judy

The TCHS Rams' Band now has six new members — the majorettes. The girls are now a part of the band instead of the Pep Commission. They practice every morning second period to perfect their routines for games, pep rallies, and assemblies. They have also participated in many parades and exhibitions.

As a team, they have won numerous prizes, including third place last year and sixth place in 1957 at the All-Western Band Review; first place at Fullerton; second place at Burbank; second place at Arcadia; and they have also appeared at Disneyland for two years. They went to National City in 1956.

They are now trained by Margaret Gualano and can be found with her every Saturday morning, hard at work, in order to keep a great variety of routines for the enjoyment of Temple Citians.

DANCE BAND

Vocalist: Doris Wolkoff

On November 17, 1956, an eager group of musicians, Temple's Dance Band, made their debut for the new school year. Under the direction of Gary Sewell, they provided the entertainment for the freshman class presentation of "Autumn's Majesty." That was just the beginning of their schedule.

Shortly afterward they were hired to play at dances sponsored by Oak Avenue Junior High School, Baldwin Park High School, St. Agnes High School, De Molay, and the National Guard.

They were the star attraction of such functions as the LaRosa PTA meeting on January 8, PTA Founders Day on January 24, and the Exchange Assembly between San Marino and Temple City.

ORCHESTRA

Under the leadership of Hugh Jacoby, Temple City's orchestra progressed steadily toward a finer performance.

Highlighting the orchestral activities for the first semester was a trip to Disneyland, where the group earned a plaque for their fine participation.

Included also in the events during the first semester was their excellent addition to the Christmas assembly.

Also scheduled on a busy agenda were performances at school assemblies, PTA meetings and the District Music Festival.

CONCERT CHOIR

Sixty-four voices strong, the Concert Choir made its debut in the first choir robes in Temple City High School's history. The members really looked impressive dressed in deep green robes with gold and white reversible stoles. Not only the choir but the entire student body thought the robes very attractive.

Among the most popular and active groups were the Temple Belles. Making their debut September 29 at the Los Angeles County Fair, the Belles found that their performance calendar rapidly grew. Appearing at numerous churches, fashion shows, women's clubs, civic clubs, and many school activities meant a very busy year.

Other singing groups this year were the Choraliers and the newly organized Hi-Fi group. Also organized was the beginning choir with 41 voices.

A raccoon coat and flapper dress set the stage for Carole Perotti's and Gary Heaton's version of the Charleston.

The life of popular music was dramatized at the Dance Band Assembly on February 14.

DANCES

Being crowned King of Hearts by Ronnie Surdam, student body president, is Alan Langdale. Smiling in happiness is Pat McAdow, the Queen of Hearts.

Dreamy music sets the mood for dancing at the "Sweethearts' Ball."

Cupids and hearts set the mood for the third annual Valentine formal presented jointly by the Girls' and Boys' League. Helping to create a romantic atmosphere were the Montebello Esquires under the direction of Mr. Rosener.

"Previews to Progress" was the theme of the Boys' League Assembly on March 14, presented by General Motors. Demonstrating the principles of the jet engine are Mr. Wilson and Mr. Blake.

Dances depicting the Blues, Ragtime, Bop, and many others were featured at the Dance Band Assembly on February 14. Shown here are the dancers who participated in the assembly.

These are South Pas song leaders? Well, anyway, the varsity basketball team tried hard to imitate them at the South Pas rally on February 8.

ASSEMBLIES

The judge turned to the district attorney,
"Are you ready?!"
"I'm ready, ready oh Teddy . . . !"

San Marino "on trial" was the theme of the pep rally on November 2. Worked around the record, "Buchanan and Goodman on Trial," the rally featured the combined pep groups in a program not soon to be forgotten.

"We find them not guilty."

"Are you Buchanan and Goodman?"
"Yes, we are."
"This is a summons."

IN OUR SPARE TIME

Blowing up quite a storm is the TCHS Jazz Band. They drew many envious glances from surrounding schools for their fine participation at football and basketball games. The Jazz Band is shown here performing at the Senior Show.

Halftime at the basketball game between the women teachers and the winning "All Star Team" featured Lynne Nelson and Linda Conklin doing a pantomime to "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise."

Watching wide-eyed are the defeated faculty, as Jim Weismann sinks another one for the seniors at the student-faculty basketball game on January 25.

Mark Twain tells his friend about the 'Ole Mississippi showboat that provided entertainment up and down the banks of the Mississippi River. This is a scene from the modern dance presentation, "Here Comes the Showboat," on March 29 and 30.

Tommy Sands and Molly Bee perform at "Showtime" presented by the Senior Class on February 26, 1957.

Many masters had various ways of making their slaves work on Bermuda Slave Day, March 15. Here Dick Walker sits among the ruins of a modern day "rickshaw" while his "slaves" double up with laughter.

Crowned Queen of the Temple City Pool Contest was Pat Brown. Chosen as her court at the pool dedication on April 6 were Sue Peterson, Tricia Slemons, and Caryol Scott.

COMPETITION

Trophies are more than a symbol of a winner or a winning team; they are a symbol of spirit as well. Spirit in the band, majorettes, track squads, baseball, football, and basketball teams is well represented by the winning trophies displayed in the school trophy case.

With the addition of a new swimming pool this year, another kind of sport was made available to the students of Temple City High School.

Under the leadership of Dick Johnson, a boys' swim team was organized. Starting in all classes during the third quarter was a complete swimming and diving program.

Greeted with shouts of joy by the horsehiders was the new baseball diamond. Gone were the days of traveling over to Arcadia Park for baseball practice.

Gone also are the generally small and overcrowded conditions for all sports.

. . . IN SPIRIT

The team leading the cheers this past year consisted of Bob Beachboard, head yell leader; Ronnie Bell, Pat McAdow, Judy Peckham, and Dennis Smith. By working together during the summer, this group developed some novel techniques. Among the most memorable was "leap frog."

Not only did these troupers catch cold by cheering in "sub-zero" weather at night football games, but they acquired aching muscles during parades by marching with the banner in front of the band.

These hard-working members of the Pep Commission devoted a lot of their time and effort to develop the spirit of the student body.

. . . IN SONG

Always found supporting Temple City High School at football and basketball games were our song leaders in their new kelly green corduroy uniforms with canary yellow sweaters.

The girls chose Karen Kirste as head song leader this past summer, and it was her job to arrange all the activities of the group.

The activities in which these girls participated were many. They included all pep rallies and assemblies, games, parades, and special appearances, such as the program at Disneyland on December 6. They also accompanied the G.A.A. to play days at various schools throughout the year.

For the first time here at Temple, the song leaders held special practice sessions for all girls who planned to try out for song leader later in the school year. Through the energetic efforts of the girls, these practice periods offered an opportunity for future song girls to gain some practical experience and to learn the requirements for becoming a song leader at TCHS.

DRILL

The largest pep group on campus this past year was the Ramettes. This group, consisting of 37 junior girls whose purpose was to promote spirit, was well known around the high school campus. They were under the leadership of the two co-captains, Sharon Thomas and Rita Bottorff. The girls started out the year by designing a completely new outfit. This outfit consisted of a green princess-style, short skirted dress, with a peter pan collar. The skirt and collar were lined in yellow and white stripes. The girls also wore white boots with yellow tassels and yellow knit gloves. The Ramettes could be seen promoting spirit at all sports events. They also participated in pep rallies throughout the year. The group also gave fine showings at the Burbank, Arcadia, and National City parades, and also at our own Camellia Festival. None of this fine work would have been possible without the untiring advice and assistance of the Ramettes' adviser, Miss Martha Hall.

FLAG GIRLS

Flashing green flags twirled in rhythm to the fight song distinguished Temple City's flag girls this year.
Bright yellow felt uniforms, trimmed in kelly green with a green and yellow embroidered Ram's head, made this group easily recognizable.
Chosen head flag girl last summer, Alison Heed organized and coordinated the activities of the girls at all events.
The end of the quarter and halftime usually saw the flag girls performing their new routines with the band.
Performing at various parades and pep rallies rounded out a busy year for the flag girls.

FOOTBALL QUEEN

Royal Court: Kay Davidson, Princess; Donna Jones, Queen; Rita Hanson, Princess.

Donna displays the Rio Hondo League sportsmanship trophy won by Temple City High in 1955-56.

Temple City High was very proud of its football court for this year. The girls were chosen on the basis of their personality, poise, and enthusiastic spirit.

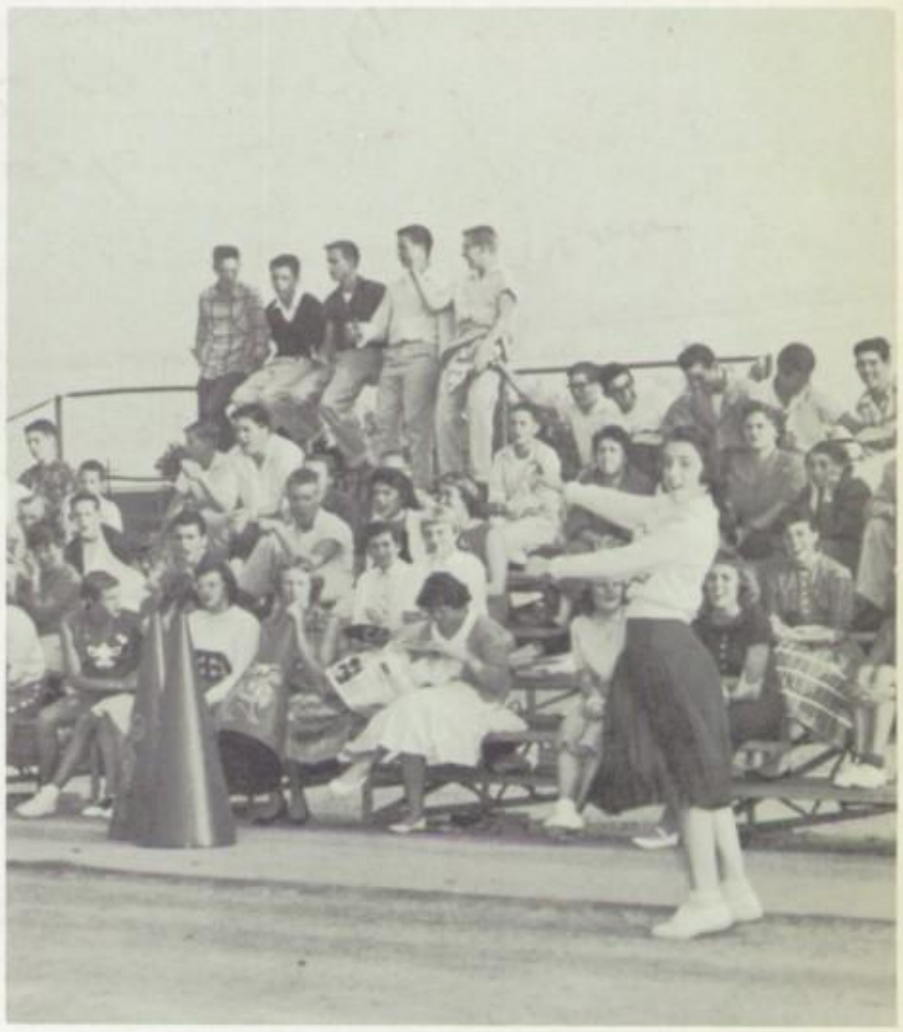
Queen Donna Jones is 17 years old and was born in Glendale, California. After graduating from Luther Burbank Junior High, she came to Temple City in her sophomore year. She became an active member in student government, holding the office of historian in her junior year and Girls League president in her senior year. A member of the California Scholarship Federation and Temple City High's representative at Girls' State, Donna was known as an excellent student leader. Taking an academic course, she plans to major in education at college.

Princess Kay Davidson, also 17 years of age, was born in Alhambra, California. She has attended Temple City schools since the fifth grade. She has been a great asset to the Pep Commission for the past three years. In her sophomore year she was a drill team member and a flag girl in her junior year. She finished her senior year as pep commissioner. She was also a member of the California Scholarship Federation and was selected alternate Girls' State representative. Kay's plan for the future is to major in international relations at college.

Princess Rita Hanson was a newcomer to our school this year. She came from Yerington, Nevada, where she was very active in her school. She reigned as Junior Prom queen and football princess in her junior year. Rita was Girls' State representative from her high school and active on the Student Council. She was also vice-president of her class. Rita has had no trouble this year in getting acquainted and becoming an active member of our school.

SPIRIT IN ACTION

Playing the role of a district attorney, tough guy, judge, and zoot suiter at the San Marino Rally are the TCHS Yell Leaders Ronnie Bell, Pat McAdow, Bob Beachboard, and Judy Peckham.



Newcomers to the Pep Commission this year were the junior varsity yell leaders. Their duties were to perform at all Bee football games and Cee and Dee basketball games. Leading the crowd in the "Temple Spellout" is Carol Mason.

A wee small addition to the Pep Commission was Nancy Walker, the yell leader's mascot.

You saw some funny interpretations of old standard routines at the San Marino Rally. It was because of this odd assortment of costumes worn by Pat Plank, Karen Kirste, Tricia Slemons, and Diane Davis, T.C. song leaders.

Temple's varsity football coaches this year were: Joe Feary, backfield; Chuck Piper, head coach; and assistant, Bob Wagoner.

VARSITY

The Ram varsity team was dealt a losing season this year, as it was left holding down the cellar position in the league with a seven-loss and one-tie record. The team showed signs of a tough season right at the start when only 19 boys came out for practice, but Coaches Chuck Piper, Joe Feary, and Robert Wagoner soon had the squad filled out.

With high spirits the Temple City eleven met San Gabriel, their first opponents of the season, in what proved to be their greatest game this year. The first quarter saw Temple's outstanding defense stop the Matadors cold. Late in the second quarter, however, San Gabriel broke into the scoring column for the first and only time that night, when it dashed 75 yards on a punt return for the six winning digits.

The next three games saw Temple City tie with Arcadia, while it held its other opponents to six and seven-point victories. But the Bell Garden Lancers took even that consolation away, when they tromped all over the Ram eleven in a hard-hitting 33-0 contest.

After a 33-6 defeat at the hands of San Marino, our varsity ended the season with Artesia trouncing it 37-6.

Morris Morkre led Temple City offensively by scoring three of the four TC touchdowns and being the leading Ram ground-gainer in every game he played. Besides this he was chosen "Most Valuable Player of the Year" by his teammates and was placed, along with Marlin Dingle, on the All-Rio Hondo League second team. Receiving honorable mention were Jerry Redman, quarterback; Jeff Leder, guard; and Dennis Williams, guard.

The Bees, coached by Bill Davis, defeated Arroyo and Artesia for their two league wins. Dennis Curtiss, the captain of the squad, and Ken Lloyd performed well in the backfield during the complete season. Dennis Allen did an excellent job in the line to earn the "Most Valuable Player" award from his teammates. Mr. Davis said that he believed that this year's Bee team was the best Temple City has had.

The Temple City varsity basketball team, coached by Marty Pelka, ended up its league season with an unimpressive two-win, ten-loss record. The squad's main problem this year was lack of height, for the Rams lost all but two of their champion team members last year.

The one bright spot on the record, however, was the 41-34 upset of third-place Bell Gardens on the Rams' home floor.

Temple's squad consisted of the following boys:

Al Langdale, elected co-captain of the team, even though he was pronounced ineligible in the middle of the season because of age. Al looked very good in the non-league contest with Claremont High, when he sank 16 digits to be TC's high-point man.

Rick Scott, most valuable player and co-captain of this year's team. Rick looked exceptionally good in the first Arroyo tilt, where he racked up seven baskets to lead the team scoring-wise, with a total of 14 points.

Ron Surdam played an important role in Temple's 41-34 upset against Bell Gardens. Ron hit 10 of TC's 41 digits, to be second highest scorer of the game.

Dennis Gallagher, named most improved player of the year. Dennis starred in the Temple City-Bell Gardens upset, in which he netted 14 digits, to come out top scorer of the game.

Ron Coleman had his day in the Temple City-Arroyo clash, when he dumped in 22 points to be top scorer of the game.

Bob Rose sank 12 points in the second half of the Temple versus Arroyo game to start a Ram scoring surge. Bob proved to be second highest scorer in that tilt.

Dan Brook ran the team superbly in the first Santa Fe clash. Temple won the game by a score of 29-33.

Bob Jones dropped in nine points when Temple topped Claremont High by a 51-40 count.

Chuck Day proved to be top scorer in the second Temple City-Arroyo game. Chuck dropped in eight points, one basket a beautiful hook shot, but the Rams could not top their opponents, as they were beaten 47-38.

Richard Howard, one of the two returning varsity members, played at a forward position. Richard looked very good in several games.

LeRoy Morkre dropped in a half-court shot in the final seconds of the last quarter of play in the Temple City-Artesia game. The Rams were beaten soundly by a score of 46-23.

VARSITY SPIKEMEN

Temple City High's varsity track team showed promise of being a Rio Hondo League threat this '57 spiked season. This year's squad, which was coached by Joe Feary and George Lebrecht, was strengthened by last season's championship Bee cindermen.

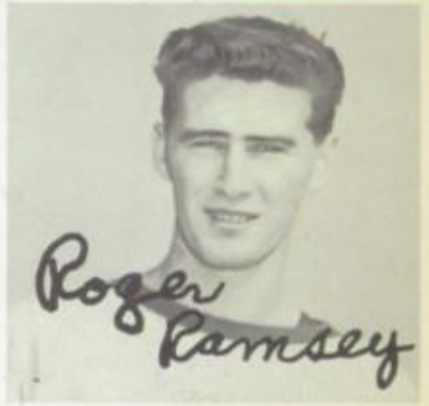
Because of an early deadline we had no way of knowing who took the Rio Hondo League Championship, but in their meets up to March 14, the Rams looked quite strong in many of their events.

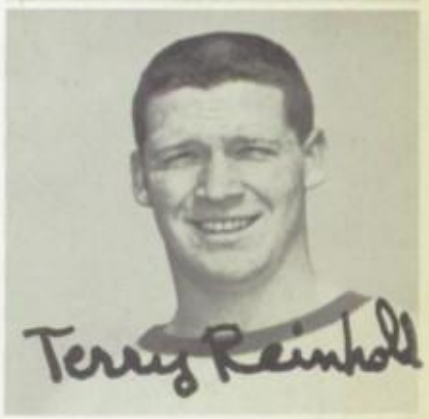
Bob Beachboard, one of last year's returning varsity members, highlighted several meets with his outstanding performances in the 100-yard dash. At the tri-school track meet this year, between Temple City, Baldwin Park and Mission High, Bob broke his own 100-yard dash record by three seconds when he ran the distance in a time of 9.8. Bob was announced also the holder of the second best time for this event in the C.I.F.

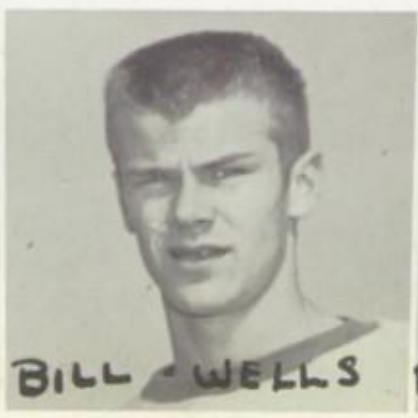
Other outstanding track members Temple has fielded this year were Morris Markre, holder of the school shot put record of 51 ft. 7 in. Although he was a Bee spikeman last year, Morris put the iron ball farther than any varsity attempt. Morris placed fourth in the CIF track finals last year, and since he was a member of the varsity this season, he should have been a strong asset.

Temple looked very good in the pole vault division, where Dennis Williams and Bill Wells won several meets for the Rams by taking firsts in this event.

As it stood before deadline, Temple held a non-league record of one win, two losses.







Pete Katzmaier hands off to Tom Parrington in the 880 relay. Temple City placed second.

Bob Beachboard set a new school record in the 100-yard dash with a time of 9.8.

BEE TRACK

Temple City's Bee tracksters, who were coached by Joe Feary and George Lebrecht, showed less promise than the varsity team this '57 Rio Hondo League season. With last year's Cee team making up the bulk of the squad, Temple's chances of capturing again the Bee track trophy looked quite slim. Because of our March 22 deadline we cannot say if this prediction proved true, but according to the results the Bee team racked up so far they should have had more of a struggle in league play than either the varsity or Cee squads.

Glenn Hill wins the 100-yard dash. He is running against West Covina.

Gary Heaton takes a first place against San Gabriel in the shot put.

Broad jumping in a meet with San Gabriel is Phil Harris.

CEE TRACK

Up to the Rampage deadline the Cee tracksters, who are also coached by Joe Feary and George Lebrecht, looked very strong in non-league play.

The Cee squad was made up mainly of freshmen, and many of these beginning cindermen looked very promising in their respective events.

Rick Gaylord took several firsts in the 180 and the broad jump, while Jack Norberg and Steve Hendrix showed up well in the 120, low hurdles, and the 660, respectively.

Steven Hendrix takes first place honors in the 660 against West Covina.

Dick Kidwell pole vaults.

TENNIS

Representing Temple City High School in Rio Hondo League tennis games this year has been the Ram racket team. These TC netters were coached by Chuck Piper, who took the place of Garland Peed, last year's tennis mentor.

Because of an early deadline the Rampage cannot give results of the '57 tennis season, but the squad was expected to do well, since it lost only two members last year. The Rams are made up of basically the same squad as last year's.

Mighty Mice Dave Crosson and John Nelson see action against Arroyo.

VARSITY

The Temple City baseball team, which is coached by Bill Davis, went into its '57 league season with a five-win, two-loss practice game record. Temple held wins over Monrovia, San Gabriel, and Baldwin Park. It also topped the Azusa High horsehiders twice in the practice season.

The first league contest proved to be with South Pasadena, in which the Rams nipped their opponents in the 10th inning by a score of 7-6. Because of the deadline, complete results of the season were not to be had, but the Temple City squad was expected to take top league honors. The Rams lost only two team members last year and are fielding basically the same squad as last year.

Members of the varsity team are: Jerry McClellan, catcher; Mike Reed, first base; Terry Christensen, second base; Ken Lloyd, third base; Dick Di Giorgio, shortstop; Jerry Redman, center field; Denny Curtiss, left field; Gary Topjon, right field; Bill Taylor, Jim Pirkle, Doug Woolley, pitchers; and Dan Brook, left field.

Temple City wins 11-8, as able Catcher Jerry McClellan stops Bell Gardens' runner from scoring.

J. V.

The Temple City High junior varsity, up to deadline time, looked very promising in the '57 Rio Hondo League season.

Coached by Roger Lockie, the team went into league play with a sparkling eight-win, no-loss non-league record. The JV's had wins over the squads of Baldwin Park, San Gabriel, Azusa, Arcadia, and Mon-

San Gabriel proved to be the toughest non-league opponent, for in both clashes with this team, the Rams had to come from behind one and five-point deficits to win the games by one or two safeties.
With this excellent record behind them the JV's should have done well in league play.

Phil Brown, catcher for T.C., makes a flying leap for home plate to score against Azusa. Temple won 10-0.

Batting is Phil Andrist, center fielder.

The G.A.A.'s whirl of activities started off with a "Father and Daughter Potluck Dinner" on November 1. Excitement was in the air when their senior basketball team took first place during play day at Puente High School.

On November 19 they had their third annual girls' All-Star basketball game, and the following night the winning team tangled with the women's faculty team.

The year was climaxed with the awards banquet on May 1. New officers were installed, and all the girls received their emblems, letters, or pins, depending on their points.

Heres hoping you enjoy your new home. I guess we both have done some growing up since 2nd grade. I wish we had all of our fights. Good luck should be good

This year the G.A.A. of Temple held their annual All-Star basketball game. The idea started and was developed by Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. McAlister, and the G.A.A. leaders of 1954. The game is now being considered as an annual affair.

Any girl in the school can try out, but the objective is to pick 14 of the most outstanding players. The two teams were the Green Hornets and the Gold Diggers. They practiced almost every day after school working out plays and trying to out-think the other team. On November 15, the night of the game, the Green Hornets won, 32-24.

Tying up the ball are Rosemary Ipsen of the Green Hornets and Wendy Triay of the Gold Diggers. Connie Geis, Nancy Porter, and Nancy Moore move into position.

The Green Hornets stayed on to play the Honolulu Hotshots on November 20. These, of course, were the women teachers of Temple. The students played very well but lost.

We hope next year to continue with the All-Star activity but with possibly some new highlights.
